SHEPHERDS, ANGELS, AND A MANGER

The hundreds of sheep were quiet now, except for an occasional bleat. Night had fallen, stars were sharp in the nippy sky, and shepherds reclined on a steep hillside above Bethlehem, watching their flocks. The men talked quietly, their low voices soothing to the animals. Then they fell silent, and tugged their heavy cloaks about them to shelter them from the whistling wind. Their eyes were accustomed to the blackness. Every few moments they would look up to scan the hills for wolves or thieves. They weren't about to lose sheep by carelessness. All of a sudden their hillside was flooded by the light of a thousand arc lamps, blinding them with its intensity. When they could finally see, a man in shining apparel stood before them. "Do not be afraid," he declared in the ringing voice of a herald. "I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. Today in the town of David, a Deliverer has been born to you. He is the Lord's Messiah." "The Messiah! The Deliverer!" breathed the shepherd. "He has come at last to set our people free." They could scarcely comprehend. Good news! Great joy! In the town of David, the Son of David is born this night. The Lord's Messiah! The shining man, glowing with the very Shekinah glory of God, had declared it. It must be so! The angel continued: "This will be a sign to you: You will find a baby wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." What a strange sign. But there was no time to think. Now the shining angel drew himself to full height, and as he opened out his arms, the radiance and glory upon him began to spread until it covered rank after rank of angels, the heavenly host, the army of God himself — more and more, company after company, battalion after battalion, began to fill the sky. And now they began to chant, to shout in unison. "Glory to God in highest." The sound bounced off the hills and echoed from the valleys, like the rumble of thunder, like the roar of a great waterfall, the shout of triumph reverberated. The shout of worship, the shout of honor, the shout of glorious praise. "Glory to God in the highest," they shouted together with one enormous voice of worship. "Glory to God in the highest," they chanted in unison, the overwhelming resonance blotting out everything else and infecting shepherds with its utter joy. The host of God, overcome with awe at the archangel words, now shouted again, "Glory to God in the highest!"

We offer our sympathy to Eddie Rice and Pam Ritmiller upon the death of Barbara Ann Klipp Rice. Barbara was a member of Utica Reformed Church and then Faith UCC for many years. Her parents, Mabel and Albert Klipp had been very faithful members of both churches as well. Barbara was well known throughout the Frederick area for the tours she organized within the United States and many countries in the world. She was a meticulous planner and you could be assured that on her trips the hotels and the areas around them would be of high quality and a safe area. Barb was a fun-loving spirit, had a great sense of humor, and a very contagious laugh. Barbara Ann was a cousin of Mary Frances Bostian and Mary Catherine Martz.

Congratulations to Margaret Sunday on celebrating her 95th birthday this year!
